First Lady Ann Scott

Dear teachers and administrators,

This school year, I want to personally invite you to visit the Florida Governor's Mansion where your students can tour the home, take photos, ask questions, and learn of the rich history. As the First Lady of Florida, I have the unique opportunity to showcase one of our state's historic and valued treasures.

The Florida Governor's Mansion is the people's house, and I want to encourage you to visit with me and learn of the many archived photographs, artwork and so many things that make the Mansion not just my home, but a building that will house so many more first families in the years to come.

The Mansion tours include personal stories and archived photographs of former first families, award-winning books by Florida authors, artwork and pottery on loan from museums across the state, and so much more. The Governor and I are honored to stay in such a beautiful home and we want everyone in Florida to enjoy it.

School children are welcome to visit the Mansion any time throughout the year. Please make reservations at least two weeks in advance by contacting the Governor's Mansion curator, Carol Beck at (850) 922-4991 or carol.beck@eog.myflorida.com.

Additional resources including educational materials, lesson plans, and frequently asked questions are also available online at www.floridagovernorsmansion.com.

I look forward to meeting you at the Mansion in Tallahassee. See you soon!
