Robb, Mike:

Sent the following to Rep. Dunn earlier this evening. Will let you know if / when we hear back...

In the meantime let us know if there's anything else we can be doing to help with the vote.

Subject: Parent Trigger Legislation

Hello Representative Dunn,

I hope you're doing well! Our team has been keeping in touch with Sen. Kelsey on school choice issues since the Miami Fact Finding trip last October and would love to touch base with you on that as well in the near future. If there's anything we can be doing to be helpful during the task force process please don't hesitate to let me know.

We were excited to see that the House Education Subcommittee is considering a parent trigger provision. Our sister organization, Foundation for Florida's Future, worked hard to pass a parent trigger policy in Florida this year but, unfortunately, it failed by a razor thin margin. The upside is we have some great lawmakers who are committed to the policy and I'm sure they will give it another try next session.

I wanted to offer our team as a resource should you, or any other members of the subcommittee, have last minute questions on the policy. Or, if you haven't already been introduced to the folks at Parent Revolution, the California group that created and implemented the parent trigger law in that state, I'd be happy to make that introduction. The Foundation for Florida's Future worked closely with their team throughout the process in Florida and they proved to be an invaluable asset.

Additionally, if there's anything aside from parent trigger that we can be helpful with please don't hesitate to let me know!

Kind Regards,
Nadia
